

Mengzhen and I are Math and Computer Science majors, respectively, and we have decided to take this course because we believe data analytic skills will benefit us in the future. Some of our main concerns about the class right now are the homework and the structure of the important projects.